

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Aegis Analytical Signs Partner Agreement with Excellis Consulting

LAFAYETTE, Colo., Jan. 14, 2009 – Aegis Analytical Corp. (www.aegiscorp.com), the leading provider of Manufacturing Intelligence software, announced today that a comprehensive partnership agreement has been signed with Excellis Consulting Corp., an IT consulting company specializing in business and integration services for Food and Drug Administration (FDA) regulated industries.

Through the partnership, the Excellis team, which brings more than 20 years of experience working with pharmaceutical and biotechnology companies, will work with Aegis' life sciences customers to provide the advice and professional services necessary for a successful implementation of Discoverant, the industry's leading on-demand data aggregation and analytics software solution.

"Our team consists of well-known professionals and certified experts with unique experience in life science implementation projects," commented Greg Cathcart, Excellis chief executive officer.

"It is an enormous benefit to both Aegis and our clients to have a trusted partner like Excellis as a resource," said Robert Di Scipio, Aegis president and chief executive officer. "Their knowledge and client-focus makes them an excellent partner."

Aegis and Excellis will showcase their new partnership on Jan. 27 at the 2009 BioManufacturing Summit (<http://www.biomansummit.com/>) in San Diego where Aegis will be presenting "Achieving the Goals of Quality by Design (QbD) and PAT – Bridging the Gap between Process Development and Manufacturing."

About Excellis

Founded in 2005, Excellis Consulting Corporation is a privately held business and information technology consulting firm. With deep industry experience in Life Science, Manufacturing, Retail and Apparel, Excellis provides a broad array of business and technology solutions and services.

Since inception Excellis' integrated business practice model has been instrumental in delivering solutions to its clients in the areas of ERP, eServices, Manufacturing and Supply Chain and enables them to become a preferred business partner to many leading Fortune 2000 companies. For more information, visit www.excelliscorp.com.

About Aegis Analytical Corporation

Aegis provides Manufacturing Intelligence solutions that drive a lean supply chain and accelerate revenue with a proven approach to data access, aggregation, analytics and reporting. The company's enterprise-class software platform, Discoverant®, leverages existing IT investments to enable on-demand and scheduled access to all manufacturing, quality and process development data for process performance analysis and visibility. Leading manufacturers increase profits by using Discoverant to improve process predictability, quality and yield and accelerate technology transfer. To learn more about Aegis visit: www.aegiscorp.com.

###

Contact:

Lisa Fairbanks
Aegis Analytical Corp.
303-625-2130
lfairbanks@aegiscorp.com